OFF-ROAD HAULER

The AMT 600 from John Deere carries up to 600 pounds of cargo over all kinds of terrain. A variable-speed drive system eliminates the need for shifting and helps match traction to the terrain. A differential action allows the inside wheels to rotate slower than the outside wheels in a turn, lessening wheel skid and tire scuffing.

A 341 cc gasoline engine gives the hauler the power to carry 800 pounds and tow another 1,000 pounds.

as parks, golf courses and athletic fields, can now receive the same uniform, dense stand of turf as a sod farm without wasting seed.

Adjustable teeth loosen the soil and a leveling bar smooths it to prepare a good seedbed. Stainless steel hopper bottoms have perforated slides for more precise and economical control of seed flow, particularly bluegrass varieties. Two heavy-duty open-mesh rollers on a free-floating suspension help cover the seed and firm the seedbed at the same time.

The seeder attaches in minutes to any medium-size tractor with three-point hitch. It can be raised for transport from site to site. Controls are conveniently located to make seeding fast and simple.
