PRODUCT UPDATE

EROSION CONTROL BLANKET

Erosion and washouts of freshly-seeded slopes can be prevented with erosion control blankets from North American Green. The blankets are easily rolled out after the area has been prepared, seeded and fertilized. They provide temporary cover until permanent vegetation becomes established.

The blankets reduce the impact of rainfall or irrigation, slow the speed of runoff water and shield the soil from wind and hot sun. Plant growth is enhanced because the blankets retain moisture in the soil by reducing evaporative losses and insulate the seedbed from high air temperatures.

During installation, the blankets are rolled down the slope in the direction of water flow and held in place by staples. The rolls are easy to handle since they weigh only 50 pounds each.
