ENERGY-SAVING PUMPS

By varying pump and motor speeds, the Energy Saver pump station only uses as much electricity as is required to produce the necessary flow of water at a precise pressure. Pump stations are available with pumping capacities from ten to 10,000 gpm.

The pumps' unique drive systems enable the motors to be soft-started, reducing costly electrical demand charges and damaging water surges. The pumps maintain consistent irrigation line pressure, which increases the uniformity of sprinkler precipitation and reduces overwatering and underwatering.

POWER SWEEPER

With its 48-inch main broom and 24-inch side brush, the Armadillo power sweeper has a 62-inch swath and can cover 184,800 square feet per hour. Its 22-cubic-foot hopper holds up to 1,500 lbs. of debris and is available with hydraulically operated multi-level high-dump or ground-level low-dump.

The unit has a two-step dust-filtering/air-moving system for built-in prefiltering of large dirt particles and dual panel filters for collecting finer dust. The panel filters can be periodically cleaned with electric shakers that are operated from the driver compartment. Exhaust air is expelled out the back of the unit, bypassing the operator and engine/radiator compartment.

A PowerSwing feature enables the sweeper's diesel or gasoline engine to rotate outside its body for bench-like, 360-degree maintenance access. Automotive-type rear wheel suspension, called PowerFlex, minimizes the jolts and vibrations for operator comfort and longer component life.
